Summary of Information

The target consists of a block-like structure with two different patterns. There is a reddish-yellow glow as if the sun during sunset or sunrise was shining on it. It feels isolated and elevated above the surrounding ground. There is a large open space along one side of the site.

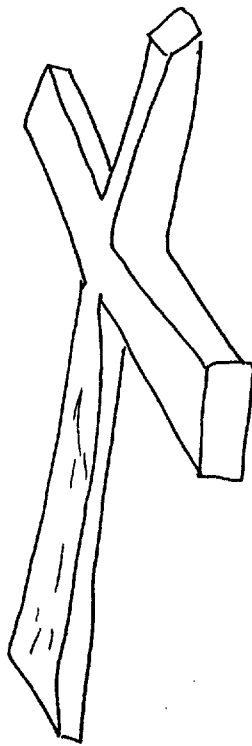

It has a feeling of joint usage associated with it i.e. political/religious or political/academic; something of this nature. The structure has a solid nature to it; that is, its solid nature is symbolic of power/higher force/strength/immovability, etc. There is a definite symbolic aspect to it.

It has a feeling of inactivity and isolation as if it has become isolated due to its inactivity. There have been holes dug into the ground somewhere on site; it feels that they have been dug within a vaulted area.

There are a number of bar-shaped objects which are stacked upon one another in a staggered fashion. A corner of one object has been chipped or broken off.

There area has a feeling reminiscent of a deserted, or arid, location, though it feels as if it were not always this way.

Other features include a "cross"-shaped object seen from 45 degrees and two circular objects connected by a single line along one edge.
